Brownies, [All-Chinese, 4. The score is tucked away down in he column along with the other reults of the opening games in The Tribune Baseball Tournament.

The old order in China has changed. And the order of things in Chinatown has changed with it. The slant-eyed children that play in the narrow, children that play in the narrow, twisty streets full of shuffling, black-bloused Orientals and strange smells have put aside the games of their ancestors. Da chuk and sup nak-no, gentle reader, those are not fancy forms of chop suey, but real Chinese games—have gone into the junk heap slong with pigtails. No kite ever could rise above the roofs of Mott or Pell st.

The game now is baseball. Of course, only the men children may play this great, new game, for the feminist movement still has a lot of ground to make up even in Chinatown. Even little shavers in their gay blue or pink blouses and red and glass bead-trimmed caps bat rubber balls with pieces of old broom handles.

The All-Chinese nine has the distinction of being the only uniformed team

The Lees are well represented in the linese baseball world. There are five them on the team, but they don't long to the same family. Boe Lee is The Tribune baseball tournament last the batting order, lording to the ancient Chinese cusport of "the last shall be list."

Six bunts and a wild throw by Boe meelf spelled defeat.
"It was a great game," said Eddie enhardt. "The Chinese boys played ell, but the Brownies were a little too they were Americans and knew the game better. I was sorry for Boe. He got up in the air when they began bunting, and after the wild throw he threw down his glove and cried. And they say that the Chinese are unemo-tional?

They are going to play the Brown-ics again, and it is going to be a good game, too. There always is a big crowd down here when the Chinese play—so down here when the Chinese play—so big a one that we have to get the ropes out to keep them off the diamond."

Foon Lee is the captain of the team. He plays at short, and pitches occasionally. Tommy Fung calls him "a regular Peckinpaugh."

Gooey Moy, the team manager and catcher, is an all-around athlete. Besides playing behind the bat his specialty is the high jump, and he has qualified to represent his school in the big interscholastic meet on July 4.

Then there is Ed Lee, who plays second base: Yow Lee, at third, and Poy Lee, left field. They are good players all. George Wing and Frank Chin divide the honors in centre and right field.

There were plenty of other interesting games during the week in the Tribune tournament. Two no-hit, no-run games were played last Monday at Tompkins Square Park. In another Jauger of the Hazelwoods struck out nine of the Emerson Juniors and won a shut-out victory for his team. Herring, of the Seymores, fanned eleven of the Redeemers and did not issue a free pass.

ring, of the Seymores, fanned eleven of the Redeemers and did not issue a free pass.

The Corlear All-Stars defeated the Manhattaus and gained the lead in the 100-pound class in the climination tournament at Corlears Hook Park. Both teams were at their best and there were several elever plays on both sides. Rosnowitz, eatcher of the All-Stars, especially was a factor in the victory of his team. His accurate throwing to second stopped a round dozen of would-be base stealers.

A neat triple play dashed the hopes of the St. Roccos in their game with the Market Circles at Cherry and Market playground. The St. Roccos had boys on second and third, with no one cut, in the third inning. "Irish"—they call him that because he isn't-came up. With two balls and two strikes called, he picked out a good one and sent a line drive to "Pin" Ryanie. "Pin" touched third and shot the ball to "Nicco," the Markets' second baseman, completing the triple play. This took the pep out of the St. Roccos and the rest of the game was easy for the Markets. ensy for the Markets.

It is the intention of the committee to give every district furnishing contestants a representation on the board of judges, if possible, that all may feel they have a man of their own choice looking after their interests. Mone but reliable, competent and experienced officials will be appointed.

Wide differences of opinion have been expressed concerning the actual distance between the Batter and Sandy Hook, and requests for accurate information have been made to this office. According to the government charts two straight lines drawn from there to the Hook, total a trifle under seventeen nautical miles, or a little less than twenty-one statute miles. By the schooner Sea Fox, that the club fleet shall rendezvous at 5 p. m.

There will be a meeting of captains on board the flag ship at 9 p. m. and a reception to guests half an hour later. On Friday, July 31, the first squadron run will be from Glen Cove to Smithtown Bay. The following day to New London, where they will lie cver Sunday, and on Monday the squadron run will be to Newport.

On August 4 the run will be to Vineyard Haven, returning on the following day to Newport on August 6 and 7, respectively, and on Saturday; August 7, the fleet will disband. Captain Roberts and the flag ship at 9 p. m.

far recovered from his lame shoulder that he left yesterday for Wilmington. Del., where he will play in the Delaware State championship tournament, which begins to-morrow. It will be the first time Murray has hit a ball on turf in a premier tournament.

The members of the Davis Cup committee of management conferred with Murray before he left the city. Robert D. Wrenn and George T. Adee impressed upon the brilliant player who has cleaned up the Sleepy Hollow, the New England championship and the metropolitan titles all in three weeks, that his selection as a partner for McLoughlin in the doubles or as a second string man in the singles depends upon how his shoulder mends.

Dr. John Allen West, of 341 Madison at., an osteopath, has treated Murray's shoulder. The Western boy was enthusinatic over the results, and said that without the relief he had received it would have been impossible for him to have beaten Frederick B. Alexander last week.
